WETASKIWIN ELIMINATED FROM LEAGUE PLAY-OFF

Tied for Second Place by Defeating Leduc last Thursday, but Lost in Turn to Lacombe Monday Night. Both Games on Wetaskiwin Ice. Real Brand of Hockey Presented in These Fixtures. Both Visiting Teams Accompanied by Host of Supporters.

Wetaskiwin stepped into a tie position for second place in the Big Five hockey league here Thursday night by defeating Leduc by a score of 7-1. It was the fastest game ever played on local ice, and the large crowd of Wetaskiwin supporters were well satisfied with the brand of hockey put up. The game was a keen disappointment to the one hundred and fifteen rosters from the northern town, who accompanied their team here, as the defeat deprived them of the opportunity of getting into the playoff.

Both teams were out to win and the play was kept at lightning speed throughout the full hour's grueling contest. The local team, a three-man combination, which mystified their opponents, and had the better of the struggle from start to finish. The scoring commenced after three minutes, when Girling took a pass from Dingle and found the net. One minute later Cook made a solo rush and Mullen caught the puck, but in clearing threw it in to his own goal. This was the only counter given in the two and five minutes respectively, unassisted.

In the second period Wetaskiwin clinched the game by adding two more to the tally, when Ryan, unassisted, and Hanson, from Rubbra, did the trick.

The third spasm opened out with a burst of speed which was almost dazzling, and before the game was called upon to penalize four of the players for short periods to keep roughness in check. Shortly after the start, Dingle got another counter unassisted, which was followed five minutes later by Ryan being the net with a shot from the side. The final score was 7 to 1.

The line up was as follows: Leduc—Defence, goal; Cook and McGregor, defence; Lynn, Willis, Brown, Switzer, Ego, and Robinson, forwards.

Wetaskiwin—Mullen, goal; Marker and Garough, defence; Wallace, Dingle, Girling, Hanson, Ryan, and Rubbra, forwards.

The speedy puck chasers from Lacombe eliminated the Wetaskiwin team from the race for the championship in the Big Five League on Saturday night, when they administered a defeat by the score of 2-1. As a result of the encounter the play-off for the championship will take place between Lacombe and Ponoka.

The visiting team was accompanied by a hundred rosters, and they were right to the start and at times played rings around the local aggregation. Then again the Wetaskiwin forward line would break away and rush towards their opponents' goal, and what would appear to be a sure counter would be blocked by Steyer, who put up a game all night that was unbeatable. Mullen, the Wetaskiwin net tender, was also right on, and stopped them from all angles and distances, and had it not been for his exceptionally good work, the score would have been a lot worse.

Marker was not playing up to form as he was sick, and Girling broke a skate at the start of the third period, which kept him off the ice. This break against the local boys went a long way towards losing the encounter, as it was during the last spasm the local forwards found their stride, and the Lacombe goal was literally bombarded with shots. It was not until eleven minutes had passed in the last frame that Wetaskiwin got their lone counter of the evening, when Hanson took a pass from Garough, which tapped the net. The Wetaskiwin boys claim they got a goal in the first period, which was not allowed, and feel that the score should have been a tie.

The first tally by the visitors was made by Ritz, assisted by Duckles. This was in the second spasm, as no counters were registered in the first period, beyond the disputed goal. In the last twenty minutes each side scored, the first being made by Steyer unassisted, after nine minutes play, followed two minutes later by Hanson for Wetaskiwin.

Referee Somers kept the game well in hand, and handed out only one penalty, to Steyer, for tripping.

WETASKIWIN 'SPIEL FINISHED ON FRIDAY

Friday last saw the close of the Wetaskiwin 'spiel, and visitors and local carrels alike voted it one of the best 'spiels ever held in the city.

On the whole all the games were close, there being very few "walk-aways" and there were a few surprises in the games put up against some of the expected strong rinks. The weather was the best ever enjoyed at a Wetaskiwin 'spiel, being fairly warm throughout the week, but the ice kept in extra good condition, owing to the good blanket of snow and ice on the roof of the rink.

Thanks are due to the ladies for the good meals provided during the curling and at the rink, and also to the committee who had arrangements for the smoker held the first night of the 'spiel.

It was impossible this year to keep an accurate record of the 'spiels made in the different games, but C. B. McMurdo kept the tally, and the games going well throughout.

30,000 CHILDREN WITH POOR EYES

Calgary, Feb. 6.—Yesterday afternoon's session of the Alberta School Trustees' convention opened with an address by H. J. Snell, president of the Alberta Optometric association, on eyesight conservation of school children. He made the statement that approximately thirty thousand school children of Alberta have eye defects of sufficient degree to warrant correction.

"While these figures seem extreme" he said, "it can assure you if they are at all, it is on the side of being too conservative. This means that twenty per cent of our children have defects, and let me state that from countries where a careful and comprehensive investigation into the condition of eyesight among children has been made, twenty-five per cent of defectives is a very careful average."

The Wetaskiwin lady carrels who went to the Wetaskiwin Ladies' 'spiel last week made a very good showing, as the rink skipper by Mrs. McMurdo won second in the grand challenge, and Mrs. Wiseman's rink brought home first in the consolation. Mrs. McMurdo's rink was composed of Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Gibson, while the other rink was Mrs. Wiseman, Mrs. Merner, Miss Robinson and Miss Hamron.

HOCKEY TEAM PLAYS TIE GAME WITH STETTLER

The Wetaskiwin hockey team went to Stettler Tuesday evening for a friendly game, and held the aggregation there to a tie, 3-3. In the ten minutes overtime, the tie remained unbroken. The Stettler team will play a return game here shortly, which should be one of the best contests of the season.

MRS. SCHOFIELD ADDRESSED U.F.A.

A very interesting and profitable meeting was held in the U.F.A. hall on Monday evening, when Mrs. Schofield, of Crossfield, addressed a representative gathering on the subject of "Co-operative Marketing of Eggs and Poultry." She stated that during the year 1924 there was about $6,000,000 worth of eggs and poultry produced in Alberta, and on account of the excellent grading system adopted by the province last year a good market was easily found for this product. The average price of eggs to the farmer was only 12c, and it was hoped by the organization of the pool to raise the average price up to 20c. It is the purpose of the pool authority to establish candling and grading stations in all the principal centres, of which it is expected that Wetaskiwin will be one.

Mrs. Schofield concluded a very edifying address by urging the producers of this district to obtain contract forms (which may be had at the U.F.A. Store) and from the office of the M.D. of Montgomery) and have them signed and forwarded to the office of the Alberta Co-operative Poultry Producers, Limited, at Calgary, with the least delay possible.

UTILITIES.

The Electric Light and Power Department has operated at a Net Profit for the year of $5,103.85, after deduction of all expenses properly chargeable against the year, and this Profit added to the Revenue Surplus of $20,997.12 brought forward from year 1923, makes a total of $26,100.97. From this amount Capital Expenditures made during the past year to the amount of $6,724.46 have been taken, leaving a Revenue Surplus of $19,376.51 to be carried forward to the year 1925. Of this Revenue Surplus, $8,124.10 is in Cash, and the Balance in locked-up Inventories and Accounts Receivable, less Accounts Payable.

The Profit on operation of the Waterworks Department for the year has been $573.14, the Debenture Payments having been charged to the General Account.

DEBENTURE DEBT.

The Debenture Debt of the City now stands at $423,902.39, being a reduction during the year of $25,531.11.

FLOATING DEBT.

At December 31, 1923, the Floating Debt amounted to $5,942.74, while the Cash on Hand was $387.65, so that the amount which had to be carried over to the year 1924 was $5,555.06.

At December 31, 1924, the Cash in Bank and on hand is $17,303.72, while the Floating Debt, (consisting almost entirely of Debenture Coupons not presented), is $10,978.84, leaving a Cash Surplus of $6,324.88, so that (disregarding Tax Arrears) a deficit on Current Account of $4,653.96 has been converted into a Surplus of $6,324.88, an improvement of $11,878.94.

GENERAL.—We have found the Books and Accounts of the City in good order. There must be very few, if any, Cities or Towns in the Province that can point to a record equal to that of the City of Wetaskiwin—a total improvement, Current and Capital combined, of $10,467.65.

Respectfully submitted,

James A. Henderson & Co., C.A.s.

OBITUARY

MRS. WILLIAM WILSON

Mr. W. J. Wilson of the Angus Ridge district received a telegram Sunday advising him that his mother had passed away at North Vancouver on Saturday evening. The late Mrs. Wilson was well known in the Wetaskiwin district, as she was one of the pioneers, and removed to the coast about five years ago. The remains are being brought to Wetaskiwin for interment, and service will be held at the Methodist church here on Thursday afternoon of this week, at two o'clock. The interment will be in the Wetaskiwin cemetery. We will make further reference to the late Mrs. Wilson in next week's issue.

LACOMBE BEATS PONOKA 3 TO 1 IN A FAST GAME

Ponoka, Feb. 9.—Ponoka lost their last scheduled league game on Saturday night by a score of 3 to 1. As a result Ponoka will meet either Wetaskiwin or Lacombe in the play-off for the league championship.

The game was one of the fastest played here this season. Lacombe set the pace and held it through two periods and certainly deserved their win. Lacombe led 1-0 at the end of the first period, Buckled scoring the only goal. Ritz made it 2-0 in the second period, while Danner scored for the visitors and James for Ponoka in the final period.

The game was remarkably even and brought out the largest crowd of the season. Ritz and the Calkins brothers starred for Lacombe while Stevens, James and Strachan shone for Ponoka.

MADE A RECORD SHIPMENT OF HOGS LAST WEEK

Johnson & Johnson have developed into one of the largest hog buying firms in the province, and last week established a new record for shipments from this district. They frequently ship as many as eight or nine cars a week, but on Friday last they shipped twelve cars, six of them being double deckers. This consignment went to Montreal. This firm distributes hundreds of thousands of dollars through the community in the course of a year.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

The meeting of the Separate school board was held on February 5, with C. Smith in the chair, and a full board present.

Minutes were read and adopted, and correspondence read and attended to. The report from the principal of the school was very satisfactory. Although the weather had been very unfavorable the attendance of the pupils was 95 per cent. The principal also thanked the board for the many improvements that have been made by the new school board. There was also a letter from the pupils expressing their thanks for the games, etc. The school and grounds committee reported that all things mentioned at the last meeting had been attended to.

The recommendation to increase the janitor's salary was agreed upon by the board. Accounts were passed for payment. Reports of the house and visiting committees were adopted.

C. Smith and P. Turner were instructed to interview a doctor for medical examination in the school and report next meeting.

The interest coupons on school debentures were ordered to be paid.

It was unanimously agreed upon that insurance on the school building be doubled.

After a discussion the meeting adjourned.

SITTINGS SUPREME CRIMINAL COURT

The regular sittings of the Supreme Criminal Court were held here this week, starting on Monday morning. The docket was a short one, there being only three cases and only one of these required a jury. The first case called was the jury case of Rex vs. Wildfang. This case arose in the Daysland district, and the accused, George H. Wildfang was charged with the theft of five horses. One of the crown witnesses could not appear on account of illness and the trial judge refused to allow his deposition, taken at the preliminary inquiry, to be read and adjourned the case until the next sittings of the supreme criminal court at Wetaskiwin. J. A. McCallery, Esq., of Edmonton, appeared for the accused.

In the case of Rex vs. Phillip Cook the accused was charged with stealing a quantity of wheat of the value of about $60.00 from one T. A. Korik, of the Bashaw district. After a trial lasting all day Tuesday, the accused was convicted. He was ordered to make restitution amounting to $75.00 for the wheat and to pay a fine of $125.00 in addition, and in default six months imprisonment with hard labor at the provincial jail. J. C. Cramer of Calgary, acted for the accused.

In the case of Rex vs. Andrew Sikko the accused was charged with committing an assault on one Metro Dobko of Calmar Post Office, west of Leduc in November last. The Solicitor for the accused raised the technical objection that the accused had been arrested without a warrant after the accused had been committed, and therefore was not properly before the magistrate, who had remanded him for trial and not properly before the court at Wetaskiwin. After hearing the evidence of the crown, the judge was satisfied that the assault had been committed but gave the accused the benefit of the technical objection with reference to the irregularity of his arrest without a warrant and dismissed the accused with a warning. Wm. Short, K.C., of Edmonton, appeared for the accused. W. H. Odell, K.C., acted as crown prosecutor at the sittings.

CITY AUDITORS REPORT HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Report Read and Approved by Council Tuesday Night, and will be Published. Railway Men ask Service Tax Adjustment. Fire Truck may be Purchased. Reports of Police and Fire Chiefs Received. Service and Property Taxes Written Off.

The regular meeting of the city council was held on Tuesday evening with all the members in attendance.

After the adoption of the minutes of last meeting, a letter was read from Mr. Harkness, stating he could not receive property being taken by city for taxes.

Several letters were read regarding lots which are being removed from farm property.

NATURALIZATION IS TOPIC AT THE KIWANIS MEETING

"Our Naturalization Laws" was the subject dealt with at the regular luncheon of the Kiwanis Club on Tuesday evening by Kiwanian R. W. Manley, who dealt with the subject under three heads, first, Historical; second, The law as it is today, and third, Procedure and evidence necessary to be Naturalized. He defined an alien as a subject of a foreign country who had not been born in allegiance to the crown. Prior to 1870, an alien could own personal property in the United Kingdom, but no real estate.

In the early part of the nineteenth century an alien might own leasehold, but in the year 1870 the Imperial parliament passed an act providing that he might own personal property. This was the first act to deal with aliens within the state.

It is a solemn thing for a man to change nationality, but in the past it has not been treated as seriously as it should have been, especially at election time.

Prior to 1914, the act made citizens of aliens in Canada, only, but in that year the Imperial parliament passed an act (the Dominion Lands Act) making the act uniform through the Empire. This act was brought about by the Imperial conferences. This act greatly to the unity of the Empire, so that now one naturalization is good in Canada, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, and all other colonies.

Our act is called the Naturalization Act, but in Britain it is known as the Status of Alien Act, which is a better name.

Mr. Manley then defined the status of naturalization of British subjects of the different countries, in a very interesting manner.

The status of married women was explained. An alien woman married a British subject would be automatically naturalized, while a British woman married an alien would become an alien. An alien can take property in the same manner as a British subject, but he cannot vote or hold civic office, or become a member of parliament. In criminal matters he is tried in just the same manner as a British subject.

The applicant for naturalization must make application to the clerk of the court and take oath to certain required statements. He must have resided five or eight years in some part of the British Empire, and must have lived one year in Canada, and must have an adequate knowledge of the English or French language. The application is posted three months, and the judge sends it to the Secretary of State at Ottawa. It takes from six to eight months for naturalization to go through. The judge only approves of the application and then sends it on to the Secretary of State, who sees the record of every man. The Secretary of State can refuse to grant certificate without giving any reason whatever.

Mr. Ardvin Drink sang a couple of songs, which were greatly appreciated. President H. R. French presided.

The Times has just completed a fine two-colored booklet for the Montgomery Brothers' Silver Fox Ranch Co., which will be sent to prospective buyers and all those interested in the fox breeding industry. We have been highly complimented on the quality of the work in this job. The work proves that there is no necessity of sending out of Wetaskiwin for your printing.

Letters were read from two firms in the U.S., offering to supply lamps for street lighting. They were referred to the special committee considering the matter of changing system of lighting.

C. H. Russell wrote respecting the children being cared for under the Children's Protection Act, advising that the city was not liable for full account at the present time. The letter was filed.

F. J. Geary applied for permission to erect ice house on Lansdowne St. The permission was granted.

Howatt & Howatt applied for a share of fire insurance in the city. The letter was filed for future reference.

J. N. Schreffels wrote claiming that he was not liable for service tax, for which he had been assessed. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

R. W. Manley addressed council on behalf of railwaymen, requesting that his clients owning dwelling houses be exempt from service tax, but no objection would be offered to service tax imposed on those who do not own property here. It was claimed that Wetaskiwin was the only place in Alberta where service tax was charged. The council promised to give due consideration to the matter of service tax when time comes.

The report of the auditors of the city's finances was read, stating that everything was in good order. The report was received and filed.

The question of publishing the Auditors' report was referred to the finance committee.

Geo. F. Root offered to sell term of fire brigade, for $375.00. The matter was referred to the fire and police committee.

Chief Kingzett submitted his report for January, which was received and filed.

L. D. Montgomery submitted report of fire brigade, for December and January. The report was received and filed. The salaries of the brigade was $24.00. The report was received and the accounts passed for payment.

The following accounts were passed for payment: General, $344.44; Electric Light, $119.72; Waterworks, $137.83; Supplementary, $69.15.

Ald. English asked for instructions regarding the removal of snow from Pearce street. This caused a discussion and it was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the public works committee.

Shelly Brock, of Battle Lake, offered to supply Jack Pine lumber for sidewalks at $24.00 per M. Authority to purchase was given by the public works committee.

A discussion took place respecting the purchase of a fire truck. The committee reported progress, and the question was referred back for further information and recommendations.

The properties committee reported they had placed values on certain properties being offered for sale. The action of the committee was approved.

Mayor Montgomery reported the result of an interview with Premier Greenfield regarding certain matters taken up by the city.

Bylaw No. 500 relating to pounds was read and considered clause by clause and left in committee.

The finance committee recommended that service tax to the amount of $156.90, and $197.00 arrears of taxes against property cancelled be written off.

The sum of $9.00 was voted the health and relief committee for indigent case.

Meeting adjourned.

A NIGHT WITH A TRAIN GUARD

(By John M. Oastson)

It was not long after the "hold-up" of "N" on the M.K. & T. at Adair Indian Territory, that the Blackstone Switch robbery was attempted. Bud Ledbetter, who came over from Arkansas about that time, told me the story. One point that he made especially clear is that when two or more determined men are protecting an express car robbing a train is a difficult business.

Leadbetter told me the story as we sat after breakfast in the restaurant at Vinia. There were present besides Bud and myself only the proprietor at his counter and a few black waiters (lying up the room after the breakfast rush).

"The Blackstone Switch fight," said Bud, "was in November, 1894. I had not been here in the Territory long. It was in the summer of 1894 that Bill Cook made things lively in the Territory and in Oklahoma. Over on the Arkansas Valley road they were so scared that they changed their night run from Coffeyville to Fort Smith to a day run. But Cook's gang hadn't been particular about sticking to the Valley road; they had come over to the M.K. & T. more than once and the M.K. & T. began to put the guards in the express cars of the night trains.

"Paden Tolbert and I used to make a good many of the runs on the evening train down. We would get the express car here at six o'clock and ride clear through to Denison, Texas, where we arrived early in the morning. Then in a few hours we would catch number two and get back here at midnight. There wasn't anything regular about our schedule, however.

"One day we got word to go down to Muskogee to meet number two there at a quarter to ten and stay with her until she reached Parsons, Kansas at about half past one in the morning. So we climbed on the six o'clock down train and got into Muskogee a couple of hours later. When number two came in we went into the express car and sat down to have a chat with the messenger.

"He was a nice sort of fellow who hadn't been on that route long. He'd never been in a hold-up; so Paden and I began to give it to him plain and strong about the Cook gang. It was necessary to stretch the truth, either for that outfit, and several others that borrowed the name did some remarkable work in the hold-up line. And it was work that included a whole lot of shooting.

"Paden was telling the messenger about the way Bill Cook could stand a man on his head and shake the thing out of his pockets when we heard the engine whistle for Blackstone Switch. It was only about seven miles north of Muskogee, in the edge of the Arkansas river timber. The station wasn't a plain switch, and the train never stopped there unless it was flagged. So we didn't expect what happened. The switch had been opened, and without any slowing down we felt the old engine hit the curve on the siding. The next thing we knew there was a jerk, then another and another as old Jerry, the engineer, put on the air brakes and then loosened 'em and applied 'em again.

"Jerry had a pretty good idea why the switch was open. So he got those brakes to gripping without losing any time, and the train was on the curve of the siding when it stopped; the hind wheels of the last car were still on the main track. The next wise thing that Jerry did was to fix the throttle so that no one could open it and then go tearing off through the bushes. Dutch Julius, the fireman, also disappeared.

"When the train stopped we heard the sound of shooting down towards the last car. "It's the real thing this time," I said to Paden. "It sure is!" he replied. "Have you got your irons ready, Johnson?" Johnson was the messenger, but he decided he wasn't drawing pay to fight train robbers. He began to build up a safe little nest out of the packages that were in the car.

"You go to the front door," I said to Paden, "and I'll take a look from the back platform of this car." We got to our places and listened to make out how the outfit was scattered and how many there were in it. I saw that two of them had stuck to the timber east of the track, and maybe three were coming up the train raking both sides to keep the passengers and trainmen inside. Remember we were running north and the way the train had stopped on the curve of the switch left the left side exposed like the inside of your arm when your elbow is crooked.

I called out to Paden to clear them away from the inside crook of the train, which he did with a few shots that he sent swinging around the corner of the car. It wasn't a black night, but the best light we had to shoot by was the flash of the guns.

We both kept the two in the bushes on the east busy so that their shots didn't do any damage. You see, they had to keep moving and couldn't get our position accurately.

All that preliminary shooting showed us the game was going to be a seige. On the outside of that crooked arm made by the train a man could creep up pretty near the express car without being exposed if he kept close. According to the game the robbers had fixed up, which was to ditch the cars if the engineer didn't stop, nobody had to pay any attention to the engineer. That left the whole outfit free to attack the express car.

For a few minutes the shooting let up, and I was hoping that they had pulled off. Then a number of shots came at us from out of the bushes. I stepped back to the shelter of the door and we drove the men in the woods out of range. Just then a shot whizzed in close to me and scattered against the car, and I saw that they were coming up on the outside of the crook and were jumping out to take a crack at my platform foot. The next time a bullet came too near I swung out and using my left hand sent a couple of bullets down. They scattered back, and for a minute, it was fit, but lost Paden and I worried the bushers, and the bushers made den in the "Katy" rolling stock.

All at once something happened that came pretty near fixing me so that I'd be no good to anybody. One of the three men back by the coaches had crawled underneath the trucks and crawled himself along until he had got underneath the baggage car which was next to the express, and had found a crack between the two platforms to shoot through. He had twisted himself around with a sort of hip-and-elbow rest on the ballast and his bullet zipped so close to my ear that I heard its song for a month!

"So that's your game, is it?" I said and took a shot down where I thought he was. It was bad shooting, though, both for me and for the fellow under the trucks. More bullets pounded the platform and couplings than got through. Meanwhile Paden was busy with the boys in the woods.

All at once I saw a match flare up. The man under the car touched some thing to the flame and leaning far out clear of the trucks tossed it up on my platform. It was a dynamite stick!

I moved with the speed of a tolog gun on a steep, icy hillside as I jumped back, banging the door open with my shoulder, and slamming it shut just as I fell inside. The stick of dynamite exploded and the old car rocked like a runaway cresset on a stony road. The messenger squealed, and Paden yelled to me to ask if I was still able to walk.

"I am!" I said, jerking the splintered door open and jumping out to send a few shots down into the dark. It was clearer work then for the platform was mostly gone. I saw the man by the flash of his gun over next to the car wheels, and I caught him, at least. He let out a yell for help and pulled himself back out of range. A couple of his friends crawled under to drag him out. The shooting from the woods stopped and once more we had time to get our breath.

They were better, I was sure of that. I was crawling over our luck to Paden and was about to swing down and go up to talk things over when I saw a procession coming around the elbow and heard a loud voice cry:

"Don't shoot. Were passengers!"

When they came closer I could see them, six of 'em, three abreast, hands up over their heads, flourishing in the dark on the sloping grade of the track. I made out the negro porter, the brakeman and a tall passenger in front. Behind the second row, close up to their backs, was a robber with a gun in each hand. He was using the two trainmen and the passengers as a screen.

If he could work that game, I saw they had us. There were plenty of passengers ready to wait when a gun was tickling their ribs, and by holding a sort of camp meeting near the side door of the car the robbers could dynamite or batter or saw or do anything they pleased, and we wouldn't dare shoot. I had to stop that procession somehow.

When the bunch was maybe twenty feet away I leaned out and yelled, yelled as if I meant it, too: "Lay down all of you!"

"It worked. It seemed as if my voice knocked 'em over, and the tall passenger fell far out like a towering square into a ditch full of muddy water. The man with the guns did not fall down. I didn't expect he would.

I tried to be as deliberate in my aim as I could, swinging out as I was and using my left hand. I brought my gun out from his belt slowly, and there was not much light, and left hand shooting is uncertain. I caught him somewhere in the shoulder, and he turned and scooted for the rear. I didn't touch him with a second shot.

"The screen of six rose up running. The tall man—a man I'd like to know—went into the bushes head on. The others followed close, and in a little while there wasn't even the rustle of dead grass or scattered leaves to tell where they'd hid. Back towards the rear coaches there was some scurrying about; then everything was still.

"We waited and listened, but we heard nothing except the little sounds of the night. The engine had stopped panting long before and looked as if it were asleep. I must have listened for ten minutes before I called out: "Hello Paden!"

"Hello, Bud," how's things down your way?" he replied. "Got 'em gone" south, I think."

"Gone?"

"Sure!"

"Where's the passengers an' crew?"

"How do I know? I'm not their nurse!"

Paden laughed and came down to my platform. Pretty soon a brake-man came up with a lantern, and the renegades crawled out of the bushes, the tall passenger last of all. The words told us that the coaches hadn't been robbed and the men out on to about the engine. He found it almost cold, and there wasn't a sign other of Jerry or of Dutch. I knew old Jerry would take care of himself; I guessed that he was in the bushes. So I put up my hands for a trumpet and yelled out:

"There was no answer, so I tried again:

"Jerry, the robbers are all gone!"

"Still no answer."

"I yelled again, "the robbers are all gone. This is Bud Ledbetter calling!"

"Hey!" came a faint voice from away out in the bushes.

"The robbers are all gone, Jerry. Come and start us up!"

Then he came shuffling up, fat old Jerry, the best engineer on the division, and I never was so glad in my life to see anybody. The fireman appeared from somewhere—out of the water tank in the tender, Jerry says—and in a few minutes we were scooting on north towards Parsons. In over an hour's fight we had some scared cars, a shattered platform and a bunch of scared passengers, including the tall chap that got ditch water on his clothes.

I found out later, being somewhat concerned in running the outfit down that there were five in the gang that

Mixed Farming
In Alberta

The deputy minister of agriculture, Mr. H. A. Craig, is authority for the statement that dairying in Alberta brought $22,900,000 to the farmers of the province, and poultry brought a revenue of $8,000,000. Here is about 31 millions of revenue that is practically a new addition to the wealth of the farmers here. These figures show how dairy Alberta farmers are extending their processes of production. Alberta will always be primarily a wheat producing province. We can grow better wheat here than can be grown elsewhere. Some say that it can be grown at a lower cost here. Whether the latter assertion is right or not, so long as the world will buy wheat of the finest quality, Alberta will remain a great wheat-growing area. The mistake of the past has been that our farmers have depended upon wheat alone. That this is a mistake has been said to them times without number, but the farmers have learned for themselves in recent years that it is folly to ignore other sure sources of revenue. They have of their own accord turned to dairying and to poultry raising. The changes in methods of farming cannot be easily made. The farmers are voluntarily made by the farmers themselves there is greater certainty that they will stay.

The Lacombe
Extension

The legislature is to be asked to authorize an extension of the Lacombe and Northwestern railway, according to an announcement by the minister of railways. A vigorous campaign by local interests in behalf of this undertaking has borne fruit, so far as the government is concerned, and fifteen or twenty miles of new road will be built if the house agrees.

Objection to such an extension has been expressed, and may be expected again, on the ground that the province is already too heavily involved in railway responsibility and liabilities to permit of further additions to the burden, the public treasury being in no condition to afford them. There is good reason for the objection on that basis. At the same time, it is a fact that, the railways having gone as far as they have, it will be good business to make them as revenue producing as possible, and the building of more mileage will substantially add to their earning capacities and marketable values. Such an extension as now proposed for the Lacombe road will be a useful feeder to say nothing of its service to the district. It is true that this applies generally, but the position that further extensions and branches of the northern lines are made still more difficult by the complications in which those lines are involved, while in the case of the Lacombe line the way, in this respect, is clear.

The logical and desirable destiny of the Lacombe and Northwestern is, as the Journal has frequently pointed out, that it be taken over by one or other of the transcontinental railway companies and extended to Edmonton. Negotiations to that end are understood to have been carried on by the government for some time past, but to what extent or result is not clear. The minister says that there is little immediate hope of such a solution of the difficulty, but it is certain that a more explicit statement on that point will be asked for in the legislature. It would have cleared the situation in the minds of the general public if it had been given sooner—Journal.

The kitchen of a dining car on the railways is 21 feet long and 6 feet wide, with a pantry, 7 by 6 feet. Frequently the chef and his assistants, three or four in number, on many of our Canadian trains prepare nearly four hundred meals in a day. Training and system are the keystones of the satisfactory service which is the rule. Everything possible is prepared previous to the meal hour, and all articles of food are kept in special ice boxes and lockers. The chef prepares soups, sauces, cooks all roasts, fries and grills all meats, and supervises the work of the kitchen. The second cook makes all puddings, cakes, pastry and breads. Two other cooks are kept busy with the preparing of vegetables, washing dishes, preparing raw fruits and innumerable other tasks.

DAIRY POOL CAMPAIGN IS PROGRESSING IN THIS PROVINCE

(Contributed)

Co-operative marketing has been discussed from several angles for many years, but it is only these last two years that any material development has taken place. The wheat pool, which was organized in the fall of 1923, and which has been operating so efficiently since, has demonstrated the value of commodity pool organization. The demand has been persistent for a commodity pool organization for the handling of the dairy commodity. Thus a provisional board have been established to work out the proposition. The campaign has just commenced for the signing-up of the volume necessary before the dairy pool becomes effective. This proposition should be considered and encouraged by all who are interested in the financial welfare of the farmers. We have thus tried to secure the cooperation of all organizations interested in economic improvement in the country, namely the Boards of Trade and the U.F.A. local.

The provisional board can not determine the plan which shall be followed in handling the dairy commodity because of the fact that they are not representative of the contracts signed. The permanent board, when elected, however, will determine the system to be followed in marketing and manufacturing the commodity. The present board have, however, determined four systems that might be followed in handling the commodity.

1. By the purchase of creameries on a revolving finance basis, where a certain deduction would be made for capital payments on the plants and equipment.
2. By leasing creameries.
3. By arranging with companies operating creameries to manufacture on a cost plus basis, e.g.—the actual cost of manufacturing the commodity at the creamery plus depreciation charges, interest on development, and so on.
4. The association may sell outright the volume signed up to the organization to the company or companies giving the highest price for the raw product. This scheme would only be carrying the system of co-operation part way.

We find from the experience of past years that by directing volume to the creameries making charges can be materially reduced. For example: the Viking creamery, which is purely a co-operative creamery, received a large volume of butter fat; paid a bonus of 2c a pound for the first six months of the year and 3c a pound for the remaining six months. Wetaskiwin, which is a semi-co-operative concern, paid a bonus of 2c a pound for eight months, and distributed $10,500. One man received a cheque for $105.00. A very nice Christmas present! The Sedgewick creamery, operating on the same basis as the Wetaskiwin creamery, with a volume of manufacture of 275,000 pounds of butter, paid a bonus of 1½c a pound for the full year. Delburne to Grainger District Association where the association have contracted with the company to buy their cream, made a good profit on a year's business for the producer.

By co-ordinating the efforts of the four districts mentioned and securing still greater volume from other parts of the province, marketing the commodity through one agency, decidedly better prices can be secured for the producer. It must not be determined by the above statement that it is the intention of the committee to centralize the business to a small number of creameries. The business of the pool must be carried on in a manner that will create volume to the creameries operating, yet provide facilities which will be convenient to the producers throughout the province. This is a matter, however, for the permanent board to decide.

The campaign for signatures must be ended the 1st of August, but it is the desire of the association to have reached the objective by the end of March.

"Co-operation is like a ship—it sails better with all sails filled. Unlike an ordinary ship, it takes more than wind to make the ship of cooperation move forward. Besides many a ship has been driven on the rocks because of too much air both hot and cold."

If anyone should desire further information than given through out local organization and the press in the province, we would be pleased to supply that information from the office at 166 C.P.R. Building, Edmonton.

Here and There

During the past season the Canadian Pacific Railway used on all its lines approximately 6,500,000 lbs. according to a report just issued. The woods used include British Columbia fir, hemlock, tamarac, Jack pine, spruce, maple and birch.

Tourist traffic in New Brunswick during the past summer left nearly $3,000,000 in the province, an amount almost equal to the total provincial revenue, according to an estimate of the New Brunswick Tourist Association. Approximately 70,000 tourists visited the province.

One thousand British Columbia rose bushes are being shipped to Portland, Ore., "the Rose City." Portland, famous all over the continent for its roses, buys the varieties produced in British Columbia because they are the hardiest and best suited for growing in North America.

Silver production in Ontario for 1924 will not vary materially from that of 1923, judging by figures available for the first nine months of the year from the reports of several operating companies, though some increases will be shown. Production to date has amounted to about $19,500 a day.

Caribou have been seen in very large numbers this season in the northern part of Yukon territory. Old-timers say that the main herd must have numbered tens of thousands, while in some of the smaller herds that had broken temporarily from the main herd there were hundreds and sometimes thousands.

The very first aerial stowaway ever known was discovered recently aboard a plane in the Laurentide Air Service, Limited, operating on its four gold fields service in association with the Canadian Pacific Railway. The serious effect of the extra weight on the flying powers of the machine was so noticeable that it led to the man's discovery. As he had hidden himself with a desire to see his sick wife and child, he was not punished.

The enormous contribution to the wealth of Canada made by the Canadian Pacific Railway was alluded to by E. W. Beatty, K.C., Chairman and President of the Company, when, speaking at Welland, Ont., on November 7th, at the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the building of the first Welland Canal, he stated that the company in 1923 dispersed in the Dominion $202,000,000 in wages and materials, and $7,000,000 in taxes of all kinds.

November 7th was the 30th anniversary of the driving of the last spike in the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, an event which completed the Dominion's first transcontinental railroad, fulfilled the terms of Confederation and made Canada a nation. A stone monument now marks the spot at Craigellachie, in the Rocky Mountains, where Lord Strathcona (then Sir Donald A. Smith) wielded the hammer which united East and West.

A "COUGH-COLD"

It May Turn To Consumption

Too much stress cannot be placed on the fact that, on the first sign of a cough or cold it must be gotten rid of immediately, as failure to do so may cause years of suffering from some serious lung trouble.

Mrs. B. Kelly, 892 Howe St., Vancouver, B.C., writes—"I wish to state that I took a severe cold. It settled on my lungs and my cough was so bad, at times it seemed as if I were tearing my lungs to pieces. I have worked the paying toll for my bank account is gone, putting cold down in the collar, piling cordwood on the lawn; there are moments when I'd rather than a voter ought to be, for the blast bites like an adder and the breeze stings like a bee, but I brace up shortly saying, "It is idle to regret, for the hens will soon be laying and the good old sun will shine. It is idle to be jawing, spring is knocking at the door, and my ears will soon be thawing, and my nose will soon be sore." Alberta Cattle Win Praise
In Winnipeg on Journey
To Big European Markets

Winnipeg, Feb. 8.—No less than 623 export cattle in 35 cars, the largest individual shipment that has ever left western Canada for over fifteen years, passed through yesterday afternoon at five o'clock over Canadian Pacific lines on route for Glasgow, Manchester and London. The 500 export steers are being delivered virtually between Glasgow and Manchester, and the 260 butcher steers are for Belgium.

W. G. McGowan, president for 1924 of the Winnipeg stocker and feeder show, who was in charge of the arrangements here, informed your correspondent that the cattle had been fed in the feed lots at Edmonton belonging to the Livestock Producers company of Canada, recently floated by H. P. Kennedy of Toronto. He also stated that this company was shipping through Winnipeg on February 15th, a further 1200 head.

"Mr. Kennedy is very much delighted with these 760 animals which, they were put on feed last October," said Mr. McGowan, "have put on in weight an average of 1.5 to 2.5 pounds daily, which was during the recent severe weather. This proves what I have always said, that the severe weather of western Canada should in no way act as a detriment to the western farmer from successful raising of cattle for export. I sincerely trust that next fall they will follow Mr. Kennedy's lead for they are better placed than he at they grow their own feed. After this 1200 shipment goes forward, the company will still have on feed 2200 head."

For Many Years

WE have hammered away at delinquent subscribers in an honest endeavor to bring our lists somewhere nearly up-to-date, with more or less success.

There was a time when one simple reminder was enough to bring delinquents into the office on the run, and we are hoping that those days are not entirely passed away. At any rate we are taking it for granted that all that is necessary in most cases is for us to simply remind you that we wish you to call or remit an amount sufficient to bring your paper up to the current year.

Let this be your reminder.

Make It Read '5'

Just take a look at the label on the front page of this issue and see if it reads "25." If you are behind even a year, let's get things adjusted and start all over afresh in this year 1925, which we are assured will be a big year in every way. From every part of the continent comes the prediction that we are to see "good times" before the end of 1925. One way to make good times come to this office is for our subscribers to pay up their arrears. Follow the golden rule in this matter, and better times will assuredly come your way in the natural course of events.

RESOURCES NOT IN LEGISLATURE
AT THIS SESSION

Edmonton, Feb. 8.—No definite proposal to take over the natural resources will be laid before the legislature during the coming session. No provincial election will be held this year.

Such are assertions being made here by men prominent in government and political circles.

It is rumored that the resources question will not come before the legislature in the shape of a final agreement for the reason that details of the question has already been given some consideration by cabinet ministers, but the problem has proven to be more full of quills than a porcupine. On the map it was comparatively easy to erase and reconstruct such constituencies as Whitford, Eltstone, Claresholm, Okotoks and Warner, but any tampering with the actual boundaries and with the present representation in the house has shown the political impossibility of drastically reducing the number of members from the cities of Calgary and Edmonton to three or four each. Instead of five each as at present, have also met with vigorous opposition. Labor leaders making it plain that they disapproved of the political move being applied solely to the urban centers. Transfer cannot be possibly worked out by the federal government at Ottawa in time to have them here before the Alberta house closes.

SOME THOUGHT FOG
MEANT WORLD'S END

Chicago, Feb. 8.—The worst fog in years covered Chicago during the night and early hours yesterday, causing local Romanists to believe the world was making its last gasp.

So dense was the fog that thousands of automobilists abandoned their machines at the curb for fear of accidents. Scores of crashes were reported from all parts of the city. Numerous robberies were staged under the thick curtain.

Elevated trains and surface cars crept along at a snail's pace. The fog was so thick that it was almost necessary to feel one's way along the street.

Yesterday's warm weather caused the fog, the weather bureau stated. The thermometer stood at 54 degrees, the warmest February 6th in 39 years.

FLU IN LONDON

London, Feb. 8.—Two hundred and two persons died of influenza in England this week, and 25,000 are ill of the same disease in London alone. The English brand of 'flu' is extraordinarily contagious, but apparently mild attacks can be thrown off in a few days.

Premier Greenfield has agreed to the general terms proffered by Premier King for the transfer of the resources, but the main details yet to settle upon deal with the problem of water power and forest reserve control.

It is said to be unlikely that the federal government will consent to turn over the water rights to the province owing to the claims of the other provinces. Caution in the concessions made to Alberta is recognized as imperative at Ottawa owing to the hostile attitude which may develop from representatives of other parts of Canada in the house of commons when the resources bill is introduced.

The general agreement for the transfer to which Premier Greenfield gave assent on behalf of Alberta at the conference last December, proposes that the resources be turned over to the province with a continuation of the cash subsidy for three years.

The political prophets who have ventured the above forecast on the natural resources issue figure there will be no provincial election in Alberta this year for the reason that the Greenfield government will not likely go to the country minus a campaign appeal such as the successful negotiation of the resources problem would give them.

It is also claimed by those in close touch with the government, that no redistribution bill will be thrown into the legislature this session. This

RHEUMATISM; A PRIME CAUSE OF
HEART DISEASES

(By Dr. T. C. Routley)
"Rheumatism" is the name given by the laity to most of the vague pains which occur in the human body. As a matter of fact, a very large proportion of the so-called "rheumatism" which does not confine the patient to bed, is not rheumatism at all. It is simply nature's warning signal that something is wrong. Calling the pain rheumatism does not harm particularly, but it gets us nowhere if we are content to dub a mere symptom by that name and let it go at that, with perhaps a little rubbing of affected spots and dosing with sure-cures.

If, on every occasion people had "rheumatic" pains, they should accept the warning and proceed intelligently to find out what was wrong, some real progress might be made, because very frequently they would find that the cause of the pains could be much more definitely diagnosed than as "rheumatism" and that very definite steps might be taken to rid the system of the toxins causing the aches. We need to understand what rheumatism is and is not. Several different diseases in reality are included under the name "rheumatism." Physicians are now inclined to disregard the word as too vague, and instead to attach to specific conditions more accurate terms, such as chronic arthritis or acute rheumatic fever.

If, on the other hand, in thinking of rheumatism and its possible after-effects, mothers of young children were all made aware that so-called "growing pains" of childhood were always an indication of a rheumatic condition and that the heart is always involved in such a condition they would not be so impatient with the fretfulness of Johnny or Mary when they cry at night with "gothache in the leg."

One of the first questions any heart specialist asks a patient who has come for diagnosis of cardiac trouble is: "Have you had rheumatism?" and he follows this up by the closest inquiry concerning "growing pains," tonsillitis, diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever, or other infectious disease, any of which may be causes of serious heart grippling, though a period of thirty years or more may elapse between the real cause and the cumulative effect.

Heart troubles very often take their rise from rheumatic fever in childhood, and the fever may have been caused by diseased tonsils or other primary infection. Nor is it necessary that such fever should have been acute in order to commit the damage to the heart.

It is now generally agreed that as far as the child is concerned, any invasion of the body by rheumatism is for all practical purposes, invasion of the heart. Many people suffering to day from advanced rheumatic heart disease owe their state directly to the erroneous idea that acute rheumatism is necessarily only a joint or muscle affection. In children joints may escape entirely, but heart involvement is an invariable accompaniment, and often the only manifestation of acute rheumatism. If this fact were thoroughly understood with all its serious implications, by parents and practitioners alike, the ravages of organic heart disease which now occupy the head of the list in the causes of death, might be sensibly decreased. The placing of rheumatic heart disease in the group of possibly preventable disorders is long overdue. Such placing will be done effectively only when the laity apprehend that pain-called "rheumatic" in people of any age, sex or climate, need a much closer diagnosis than that before they can be either prevented, cured or dealt with adequately.

Dr. Llewellys F. Barker, of Johns Hopkins University, when recently speaking to a body of scientific men in the Canadian Institute, Toronto, on the "Causes of Nervous Breakdown," said:

"A great many breakdowns could be prevented if the family physician were consulted on one's birthday every year. Developing disturbances could be detected and nipped in the bud, and many serious illnesses prevented."

This is particularly true of rheumatism, but remember always, that any periodic health examination must be thorough and prolonged to be of real use. Focal infections such as those which are often the causatives of rheumatism, cannot always be discovered easily or quickly. A focal infection means that somewhere in your body there is a spot filled with pus and germs. The poisons from such spots get into the blood stream and cause rheumatism or other troubles. The commonest examples of focal infections are found in diseased tonsils or teeth, but sometimes, too, in an unhealthy gall-bladder or appendix. If you have a back history of sore throat, look out for rheumatism in later life. Removal of the tonsils or complete removal of diseased teeth often effects a complete cure, but great care is necessary in order to establish just where focal infection is arising.

If you would avoid rheumatism, strive to prevent the infectious disorders which may give it rise. Watch your body intelligently so that focal infections if they develop may be removed as quickly as possible.

See that you are properly clad for the changing seasons. If you are unavoidably exposed for a prolonged period to damp or cold take immediate and drastic measure to counteract a possible attack of muscular pain. If you develop rheumatic fever, remember that a proper diet is very important, but in order to know what foods are indicated you must have first a knowledge of the character of the seizure. If there is nothing acute, but you have "rheumatic" pains, do not think that that explains or cures anything. Find out their cause, what they mean, and then have a real try at fighting underlying causes.

"Rheumatism" is not unavoidable, an "Act of God" nor necessarily a disease of old age. By intelligence and sane precautions it may be avoided. Chronic arthritis, by careful pursuit and removal of the focal infection causing it, is often curable. But there must be in patients and doctor alike, first, the will to know, then to do. Given these even the ravages of "rheumatism" may be cast out.

Provincial Weekly News Bulletin

Alberta's Exports

Exports of Alberta products direct from the province to points in the United States totalled in value $5,682,919 in 1924, compared with a total value of $4,358,449 in the previous year, according to the report prepared by S. C. Keat, American consul for Alberta.

Figures for the Calgary district show a considerable increase in export of cattle to the U.S. and for both Calgary and Edmonton a considerable increase in hog exports.

Trade with the Philippine Islands was an interesting feature of the year's exports. Calgary district shipped 908,490 barrels of flour there, and Edmonton district shipped 17,500 pounds of butter to the islands.

The value of products exported to the U.S. from each consular district was as follows:

Edmonton	$2,755,925	$2,272,067
Calgary	$2,127,916	$1,159,808
Lethbridge	$ 701,299	$ 395,533

Cattle exports from Calgary increased from 1923 head in 1923 to 11,877 head in 1924, and from the Edmonton district the increase was from 336,338 in value to $143,149 in 1924. Hogs exported from Calgary to U.S. increased from 23 head to 5405 head. Large increases in meats and fish, furs and lumber are noted from Edmonton, and in livestock from Lethbridge.

Coal Production in 1924

Alberta's coal production in 1924 was 5,203,113 tons, a decrease from the previous year, when the production was a million and a half tons greater. The decrease was due to the prolonged strike, but the month of November, following the conclusion of the strike, was the biggest month in the history of the industry, when 693,537 tons were produced. The total domestic coal for the year was 3,046,860 tons, sub-bituminous 591,546 tons, and bituminous 1,515,107 tons.

WORK OF BOYS AND GIRLS IN JUDGING IS VERY ENCOURAGING

The twentieth annual convention of the Alberta Dairywomen's Association at Calgary, came to a close on Friday evening after a most successful three days' session. The convention closed with the election of officers and the passing of a number of resolutions important to the production of butter and cheese in Alberta and in Canada as a whole. There appeared keen evidence of the delegates desiring to increase the amount of production in this province, and that these conventions will become keener and more important as years go by.

W. W. Prevey, of Edmonton, was elected president of the association for 1925, with the following directors: J. W. Skelly, Calgary; Norman S. Clarke, Didsbury; and E. T. Love, both of Edmonton, were elected as representatives to the National Dairy Council.

Probably the most outstanding feature of the convention was the dairy cattle judging demonstration given by the winning team of the boys' and girls' competitions. The interest taken by the younger generation in this competition marks very plainly that the boys and girls are anxious to further the agricultural prosperity of Alberta and of western Canada.

C. P. Marker, dairy commissioner, speaking at the close of the convention, referred in pleasing words to the part played by these boys and girls, and said that he must congratulate them in this matter. "I enjoyed very much the demonstration put on by the two boys and two girls this morning. I can see as this good work develops, it will compel the interest of their elders."

W. A. Wilson, agricultural products representative, London, England, then spoke on "Our British Markets."

While Canada has established a high reputation for the quality of some of her products, she has not yet attained the standard of other dairying countries with whom she competes in the British market, he said.

Mr. Wilson made some comparisons which were not creditable to Canada, when he spoke of the possibilities which exist for Canadian products in the British market. Canadian cheese he said, has the reputation for being the best cheese on the market; it also has the reputation for being the worst. Probably an average is struck between these two extremes, but until Canada can consistently maintain the standard of her best products she will not hold the place that is rightfully hers on the British market.

"Among the products of the farm our cattle have probably made a record in establishing a splendid reputation for quality in a short time."

Increased Revenue from Motors

A considerable increase in revenue from the motor and gasoline and other taxes for 1924 is noted in the report of the provincial secretary. The following are the figures.

	1924	1923
Motor taxes	$847,663.50	$742,553.50
Gasoline Tax	294,166.15	241,247.77
Corporation Tax	502,162.30	475,609.34
Amusement Tax	192,607.32	203,992.43

The annual report of the Taber irrigation district shows a surplus of $26,600 for the year's operation. The previous year the surplus available permitted the rates to be cut from $2.80 to $1.50.

Poultry Headquarters at Edmonton

The livestock and dairy pools now in process of formation have established headquarters offices in Edmonton. The head office of the egg and poultry pool is at Calgary.

Creamery Short Course

Another short course for creamery workers in the province will be held at the University of Alberta from February 23 to March 13.

Fine Record of Municipal Hospital

A cash balance in the bank, with all expenses for the past year met, including debenture payments, and the low operating cost for the year of $2.39 per patient day, was the splendid record made by the Red Cross municipal hospital during 1924. This is one of the fifteen municipal hospitals now being operated in Alberta under the provincial government's municipal hospital scheme. The hospital had a total of 5650 patient days during the year, with 499 patients admitted and 136 major operations performed. Though there was an increase of 918 hospital days over the previous year, the hospital was able to finance all its obligations including full debenture payments, and have a balance at the end of the year. Special note is made of the low operating cost, which is stated to be the lowest of any of the municipal hospitals in the province.

WANT SHARE TAXES EARNED IN CITIES

Edmonton's fight to loosen the grip which the provincial government has on revenue that is collected from the cities, will be endorsed by Calgary. Word has been received that Mayor Webster, of the southern city, has stated he is ready to have another go at the provincial authorities, in spite of the fact that they have continually turned down the applications for a greater share of the provincial revenue from amusement taxes, automobile licenses, gasoline taxes and the like.

Calgary intends to make a real fight with Edmonton for a pro rata share of the liquor control profits, according to population. The Edmonton council, divided on this question, with the majority in favor of it, but it seems that Calgary is for the scheme, hook, line and sinker.

FAMILY TREES

Two colored men were standing on the corner discussing family trees. "Yes, sah, man," said Ambrose, "I can trace my relations back to a family tree."

"Chase 'em back to a family tree," said Mose.

"Now, man, trace 'em, trace 'em, got me?"

"Well, they ain't but two kinds of things dat live in trees. Birds and Monkeys, and you sho' ain't got no feathers on you!"

The speaker. "Only two years' business has been done, and the satisfaction is such that possibilities for Canadian butchers, both fat and stores, are extremely bright."

Referring to bacon and eggs, Mr. Wilson said, "A whole hearted recognition of the principle of grading and playing for quality followed by a determined and persistent effort to meet the demands of the overseas trade will place Canada in a forward position in the bacon market, and nothing else will."

"Inspection of eggs has brought our product up among the best where competition is keenest."

Dealing with the merits and deficiencies of Canadian butter, Mr. Wilson said, "I firmly believe it to be the part of wisdom for men who are doing their work well to adopt the use of a brand on their goods. Selling on a brand is favored in the old country, and once a brand becomes known you will get credit for the work you do and in a sense you will be able to raise yourself above the general reputation that prevails."

NINETY MILLION BUSHELS OF SEED NEEDED FOR 1925

Canada will require approximately ninety million bushels of seed grain for the 1925 crop. Since yield is materially influenced by the kind of seed sown, it is important that the farmer receive due consideration as to choice and preparation. In the preparation of seed grain, the cleaning machine used must be very carefully regulated. The scarcity of good seed grain in the west this year makes it desirable that those who have to buy seed do not defer action too long.

The essential characteristics of good seed are good quality, a high degree of purity, strong vitality and freedom from disease.

Good quality in seed grain implies a plump, bright, sound, disease-free sample. Brown grain is not usually safe to use as seed, neither is grain which is heated or bin-burnt. The same is true of seed in which sprouting has occurred. The effect of weathering and of rust must also be considered. Purity in seed grain naturally is of prime importance. All weed seeds must be removed. The presence of other classes of grain such as oats in wheat should also be carefully avoided as should also different varieties of the same kind. Vitality in seed grain must be high and strong and no seed should be used before it has proven itself by careful germination tests. Freedom from disease such as smut can be assured only through the use of proper treatments such as the formalin treatment for loose smut of oats and covered or sinking smut of wheat.

The question of variety to be sown is another matter worthy of serious consideration. Standard varieties of proven worth in a particular district should be used. Where doubt exists, reliable information can be secured from the nearest experimental farm or agricultural college.

In a seven-year test conducted at the Ontario agricultural college, large plump seed oats produced a yield of 62 bushels per acre, weighing 33.2 pounds to the bushel, while small seed gave a yield of 46.6 bushels, weighing 31.8 pounds per bushel. It was found, furthermore, that an increase of three and a half to six and a half bushels in favor of plump seed for other classes of grain resulted from similar tests. At the university of Saskatchewan, light and shrunken grain produced 55.3 bushels per acre, unclean seed 56.7 bushels per acre, while grain once cleaned produced a yield of 58.3 bushels. The estimated annual loss of twelve million dollars, by not using treatment for smut in western Canada, represents only a small percentage of the actual loss caused by not giving attention to the other points enumerated.—Experimental Farm Notes.

JOKE IN DISCARD

The old joke about Scotchmen preferring church services by radio because there was no collection plate attached there, will have to be discarded, according to officials of the Canadian National Railways. William Stapleton, district passenger agent at Saskatoon, reports that when the Continental Limited, a radio equipped train was approaching Saskatoon on Sunday morning, January 25, the operator received the service from Westmainer Presbyterian church in that city. The sermon by Rev. George A. Dixon, of Knox church, Calgary, was broadcast to the passengers in the radio observation car. The collection was taken up, which was handed to the minister of the Westmainer church when the train reached Saskatoon shortly after noon.

The weakening agony of piles robs life of its pleasure, turns days of brightness into days of misery, and brings periods of acute suffering. Overwhelming evidence proves Zam-Buk incomparable for lessening the pain, bleeding, swelling and inflammation. Mr. Alf Brown of Merrion, writes: "I hope that my testimony will reach thousands suffering from that dreadful ailment, piles. For six years I was never free from pain. No one ever spent more money in search of a remedy. A sympathetic friend gave me a part of a box of Zam-Buk to try. Its soothing power was marvellous, and I soon had a further supply of this great healing ointment. I used Zam-Buk until the old painful disease was gone completely." Equally successful for hemorrhoids, proctitis, salt rheum, pimples, boils, bad legs, ulcers, scalp disease, poisoned wounds, cuts, burns, scalds, etc. Dealers everywhere sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.

DOINGS OF THE BIBLE INSTITUTE

The Bible Institute commenced the 20th of January with an enrollment of ten students, which has increased to thirteen, Misses Camilla Anderson, Elna Bihlsten, Esther Drandt, Edith Haglund, Edith Hawkes, Anna Johnson, Fera Larson, Marguerite Lafthus, Ruth Nickolson, E. Pearson and Messrs. Palmer Peterson and Boyce Vincent.

Rev. P. A. Peterson, of Kerkhoven, Minnesota, is the instructor. "Bible Doctrines," "The Gospels," "Trinity," "Christ in all the Scriptures," "The Holy Spirit" and "The Church," are some of the studies. Wednesday and Thursday evenings, the book of Revelations is dealt with. The next four lessons are "The Marriage of the Lamb," "The Battle of Har-Magedon," "The King of Kings and Lord of Lords," "The Kingdom".

Rev. J. Paul Erickson gave a course of seven very helpful lectures on Sunday school work and Rev. M. Bergh several inspiring addresses on World Wide Missions.

In the second term period, Rev. Larson instructs in "Personal Work," in connection with this the students visit from house to house on Tuesday afternoons, witnessing for their Lord and Master.

On Sundays a number of the students assist with services in the city and surrounding districts. Next Sunday day service will be conducted at the German Baptist church.

Monday evening of this week the students presented an interesting program in the Swedish Baptist church to an appreciative audience. The subject dealt with was "Old Testament Prophecies and their Fulfillment." The student body was divided into two groups, one group read the prophecies and the other the fulfillment. In one hour's time it was shown how twenty-five Old Testament prophecies were literally fulfilled within the space of 24 hours, relative to the suffering and death of Christ. Several songs and verses of songs were sung by the students that added much to the effectiveness of the program. It was an impressive evening and convincing to all thinking people. The Old Testament prophecies are a mighty argument to the fact that the Bible is God's work, divinely inspired. Next Monday evening, the 16th, another program will be given. Many have visited the classes.

A Telephone Dance will be given in the Elks' Hall on Thursday, February 19th. Hanson's five piece orchestra has been engaged for the occasion.
